Welcome Public Sector customers and partners!

You're invited to open your world to new innovations at Data + AI Summit 2023. It's great to be back at the Moscone Center, San Francisco, for our biggest event to date. This year's conference is packed with best practices, industry use cases, hands-on demos and customer stories to help you make the most of the Databricks Lakehouse so you can achieve your mission.

We are thrilled to announce that Satya Nadella, CEO of Microsoft, and Eric Schmidt, former CEO of Google, will be our esteemed keynote speakers at Summit. Their presentations will focus on the latest innovations, impact and future of AI, ML and large language models (LLMs).

This Public Sector Guide to Data + AI Summit is designed to ensure you get the most from your experience. We have a stellar lineup of Public Sector sessions, many of which feature the Lakehouse journeys of our Databricks customers. We are also delivering a series of Public Sector demos to help you get started innovating with data, analytics and AI.

To kick off the conference, we're hosting a Public Sector Industry Forum on Tuesday, June 27. This content-rich event will feature invited government data and AI leaders from the Department of Defense Chief Digital and AI Office, U.S. Army, Veterans Affairs, USPS, USCIS, U.S. Coast Guard, California Department of Public Health (CDPH) and Accenture.

Our esteemed speakers will share their perspectives on the biggest issues facing the Public Sector, including fraud, cyber threat detection, AI-driven government, homeland security and delivering better social services to citizens.
